EDITOR, REAL LIVING

"As editor of real living I'll be looking for an interior that's going to inspire our readers while at the same being an authentic liveable space. My advice: don't put anything in your final design that you don't love, and make sure you read the invaluable interior advice on page 100 of this issue before you start. Can't wait to see your rooms!"

decorate TO WIN A STYLIST

Have you been busy decorating at home?
Get out that digital camera and send us the results!

Real homes and real people are the heart and soul of real living. That's why we want you to enter our first-ever reader decorating competition. Send in shots of your favourite room in your home (see opposite for details). We'll present them to our panel of judges (all shown here), who'll choose the winner. The winner will receive the services of a professional stylist for a day to gather expert advice, tips and tricks. And we'll run a feature on the winner's home in the mag.

Jason GRANT
STYLE DIRECTOR, REAL LIVING

Jason strives to stay true to his belief that decorating should be fearless and fun. He's a firm believer that interiors don't have to reflect current trends. Interiors should be eclectic, charming and organic – with a bit of a quirky twist. "I'll be looking for an original space that reflects the homeowner's personality and will inspire my stylist's eye," Jason says.

vince FROST

CREATIVE DIRECTOR AND CEO OF FROST* DESIGN

Vince runs one of Sydney's top interdisciplinary design studios, producing a wide range of projects including book, magazine and exhibition design and TV graphics. He and his team designed the interior of an apartment (pictured right) in the Trio development in Sydney, which was the subject of a major real living feature last year. "I'll be looking for something that makes me smile and feel good," Vince says.

juliette ARENT & sarah-jane PYKE

ARENT&PYKE INTERIOR DESIGN

Juliette (at left) and Sarah-Jane are the principals of Sydney-based interior design company Arent&Pyke. The talented duo received the "Best of State Residential Design NSW" award at the Interior Design Awards 2009. As residential interior designers they encourage their clients to have homes that reflect their personality. "We'll be looking for as much individuality and creative use of space as possible in the entrants' interiors," they say. Juliette and Sarah-Jane were the talents behind real living's Best of State Residential Design NSW Decorator Rulebook in the Jan/Feb issue this year.

jason SULLIVAN

INTERIOR DESIGNER

Jason was the winner of last year's HomeMADE television decorating challenge on Channel Nine. He likes to create spaces that are based on comfort and tradition yet have a modern quirky edge. Jason's work has appeared several times in real living. "I'll be looking for individuality, something new that inspires me and a space that is warm and inviting."

jacinta PRESTON

JACINTA PRESTON DESIGN Sydney interior designer Jacinta brings imagination and a sense of fun to her huge variety of commercial and residential projects, which involve everything from simple walk-through consultations to complete renovations. Jacinta believes her job as a designer is to not only share her ideas with clients, but to bring their ideas to life. "It's simple - I'll be looking for a beautiful and practical room made from things you love. A room that becomes so fabulous it's greater than the sum of its parts!" See 119 of this issue for Jacinta's decorating dilemma feature.
